EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

A deliberate launch into a proven market.

Solvantis is in limited release for extended real-world testing, with a controlled soft launch underway. A full public launch and materially increased advertising budget are planned for January 2027. Initial acquisition will focus on Australian gift retailers and wholesalers, where the team has deep operating knowledge, established credibility and a ready network of more than 1,000 industry contacts.

1,000+

Established gift industry contacts underpin founder-led outreach, warm introductions and an immediately relevant lead network.

GROWTH TRAJECTORY

Measured adoption. Significant processing scale.

The projections pair a focused industry launch with a high-value customer base. Merchant turnover is the annualised gross sales turnover expected to flow through participating Solvantis tenants at each year end.

PROJECTED PLATFORM ADOPTION

Tenants at year end

20x projected tenant growth from end 2026 to end 2028.

PROJECTED MERCHANT PROCESSING OPPORTUNITY

Annualised merchant turnover

Projected annualised turnover, in Australian dollars, at each year end.

These figures are forward-looking management projections, not guarantees. Actual results may vary with customer conversion, implementation timing, product readiness and market conditions.

GO-TO-MARKET PLAN

Controlled now. Public from January 2027.

Solvantis is prioritising product stability and operational learning before scaling acquisition. The release sequence is designed to support sustainable merchant onboarding and service quality.

NOW - 2026

Limited release

Extended testing with a controlled customer group. Validate critical POS, inventory, accounting and ecommerce workflows in live trading environments.

JANUARY 2027

Full public launch

Open broader self-service and assisted acquisition, supported by a ramped-up advertising budget and direct outreach into established industry networks.

2027-2028

Market expansion

Use Mark's personal relationships and credibility across the gift industry to deepen adoption among retailers and wholesalers, then reach adjacent retail categories and larger multi-site groups.

$30M

Major distributor implementation planned for March/April 2027. This existing commitment represents approximately $30 million in annual turnover and provides a substantial anchor customer following public launch.

PRODUCT ADVANTAGE

One connected commerce platform.

The product is designed around the workflows that generate and reconcile merchant activity, connecting customer transactions with stock, accounting, fulfilment and channel operations.

01

Advanced inventory

Multi-location stock, variants, purchase and sales orders, transfers, fulfilment, stocktakes, forecasting and margin visibility.

02

Industry-leading POS interface

A fast, intuitive interface supports reliable checkout, customer service and everyday store operations across single and multi-site retailers.

03

Comprehensive accounting integration

Advanced Xero workflows reduce duplicate entry and connect sales, payments, reconciliation and operational records.

04

Automation & reporting

Automated operational tasks, live performance dashboards and decision-ready reports help teams act faster with less administration.

05

Wholesale portal

A native B2B ordering experience connects wholesale customers directly with catalogue, account and order workflows.

06

Native online shop

Integrated ecommerce supports a direct consumer channel while keeping catalogue, inventory, orders and customer value connected.

07

Creative tools

AI-assisted product content and campaign imagery help merchants prepare consistent, channel-ready catalogue assets efficiently.

INITIAL TARGET MARKET

Built to win in gift retail and wholesale.

While Solvantis is an independent business, separate from Monsterthreads, its launch advantage comes from founder Mark Mamrot's personal relationships and industry credibility, developed while building Monsterthreads as both a gift distributor and a multi-store retailer.

- 01 Direct market access. More than 1,000 existing contacts provide a substantial base for founder-led outreach and qualified leads.
- 02 Founder-market credibility. Prospects know the team has operated the same retail and wholesale workflows Solvantis is designed to improve.
- 03 High-value merchants. The target market includes independent retailers, multi-store groups and national distributors with meaningful payment volume.
- 04 Clear expansion path. A proven gift-industry implementation model can extend into adjacent specialist retail and wholesale categories.

FOUNDER EXPERIENCE

Twenty years of lessons from the shop floor to the warehouse.

Mark Mamrot founded Monsterthreads with his business and life partner, Charintorn Pongpaet, in 2004 while studying at UNSW. Its idea was “art for every day”: putting favourite artworks on the things people use, including T-shirts, homewares and accessories.

Monsterthreads grew into a leading gift destination spanning both retail and wholesale. Immediately before COVID, the business operated ten stores, giving Mark direct experience across buying, inventory, stores, staffing, customer service, ecommerce, wholesale and distribution.

Solvantis turns more than 20 years of practical retail and wholesale experience into a platform that understands how traders actually work.

That experience shapes the product: connected workflows, less repeated administration, clearer information and tools designed to save operators time. Solvantis is not software looking for a retail use case; it is the operating platform Mark wanted while building and running a complex commerce business.

MERCHANT SERVICES OPPORTUNITY

A credible path to $400M in annualised merchant turnover.

Solvantis combines a controlled release strategy, differentiated commerce technology, a defined target market and Mark's established personal industry network into a scalable merchant acquisition plan.
